LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Pikes Peak State College acknowledges the original stewards of the land that our institution occupies. The Ute, the Cheyenne, the Arapaho, and many other First Nations People have unique relationships with this land and nearby land formations they revere as sacred. We recognize and respect their continuous presence in the shadow of the mountain for which PPSC is named. The ancestral Ute name is Tava which means Sun Mountain.

By acknowledging the horrific stories around the dispossession of these lands and the consequential inequities, we understand our privilege is not without consequence. PPSC is actively engaged in supporting the Native American community of the Colorado Springs region with educational opportunities and supportive measures to be successful. Together, we celebrate and honor the historical and contemporary contributions of Native Americans to Colorado Springs’ thriving culture.

HISTORY

Pikes Peak State College’s Rich History

Pikes Peak State College was established in 1968 as El Paso Community College, a two-year college offering three associate degrees. The first graduation was held in April 1970 at Bancroft Park, yielding 17 associate degrees and 70 certificates. Enrollment rapidly grew, in part due to the college’s emphasis on military programs, which remain a significant aspect of PPSC. In 1978, the Centennial Campus was built, and the College Council approved a new name: Pikes Peak Community College.

Over the decades, population growth in the region drove demand for expanded educational services. As a result, the Downtown Studio Campus opened in 1986, Rampart Range Campus followed in 1998, and the Falcon Campus in 2008. In 2022, the Simulation Center reopened with state-of-the-art labs, helping students develop real-world health science skills.

On April 22, 2022, Governor Polis signed legislation authorizing changing the name from “Pikes Peak Community College” to “Pikes Peak State College.” Pikes Peak State College better describes the college’s trajectory, particularly as it pertains to the expansion of four-year degrees. Throughout all these changes, PPSC has stayed true to its historical roots by adapting to serve community needs first and foremost.

PPSC has grown into Southern Colorado’s largest post-secondary institution, offering the most accessible and affordable education in the region. We stand on a rich history and a legacy of student success.

2025 Commencement Speaker

Ku'uleilani Han

Ku'uleilani Han is a proud Colorado native and graduating senior from Odyssey Early College and Career Options in Colorado Springs School District 11. Throughout her academic journey, she embraced the unique intersection of being identified as both “gifted” and “twice exceptional (2E),” carrying those labels with resilience and self-awareness. Inspired by the many exceptional educators who guided her path, Ku'uleilani hopes to bring her passion for learning into a local elementary classroom as a future teacher.

Her experiences at both D11 and Pikes Peak State College have sparked deep curiosity in subjects such as painting, human physiology, and foreign language—areas she looks forward to exploring further in her continued education. She was honored to be published in Parley, PPSC’s literary and arts journal, and has found great purpose in her community involvement, especially through her service in children’s ministry and youth outreach at Covenant Presbyterian Church.

Ku'uleilani extends her heartfelt gratitude to Professor Susan Dallam, Jessica Starkie, Professor David Palmer, and most especially, her mother, Iwalani, for their unwavering support and encouragement.

DIVISION OF BUSINESS, TECHNOLOGY & PUBLIC SERVICE
